REPORT OF THE SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

To the Citizens of Weare:

It again rests upon us to lay before you a statement concerning the condition of our schools at the present time. It is our desire to be just to all parties as we attempt to do this. Whatever we may do, in this direction, will be of little value only as what is said shall agree with facts. It must be kept in remembrance that we report all matters pertaining to our schools as they appear to us.

We have watched with more than usual interest the progress of our schools during the past year. It was gratifying to notice in the beginning a good interest on the part of our Prudential Committee, in a careful selection of teachers. This we must all allow is the first consideration of importance.

It would seem of some who are elected as a Prudential Committee that the oath of office, to which they assent, was a mere matter of form to be remembered only as it is administered, forgetting that they are bound to do their duties according to the laws of the State and to the best of their abilities.

Let the Prudential Committee come to feel some responsibility in the work which he has to do, though he is not paid in dollars and cents for his services, and we shall be in the way of success in the outset. But let him not feel that with the selection of even the best teachers, that can be found, his duty is done; with the Superintendent, he is to give the teacher, if he is a worthy one, entire support, sufficiently interested at all times to know when to act and how. Evidently our schools have not arrived to that high standard of excellence when they can safely be left to themselves even with competent teachers. Though our schools may have made commendable progress in the different branches taught, yet judging from what has come to our knowledge, in some of our schools, they are far from what they should be morally considered. Hence the demand for cooperation on the part of parents, teachers and committees, that all the evil influences which are in any way hindering the prosperity of our schools may be done away. There are school laws that may be brought to our aid in these matters, and if parents, teachers and committees will be as bold in the use of them as the "young men" and children are in their ways of evil and mischief, there will be little difficulty in bringing about a change in the character of some of our schools.

We have been pleased with the conduct and bearing toward their pupils, of the most of our teachers, as we have been privileged to visit them, from time to time, in the school room, and observed their methods of government and instruction, yet we see there is still room for improvement on the part of teachers. We call attention to one observation: a neglect to deal, in proper ways, with those that are not so quick and active to see and execute; they may be heedless and indifferent, often taxing your patience, but we see no room for apology for you if you overlook their interests. Above all things avoid the appearance of partiality, before your pupils, at any time, or in any place.

We have not made any change in text books, not seeing the immediate necessity of change. We think the demand is a right and proper use of what we have already. We feel obliged to speak of one text book which is being sadly neglected and almost wholly laid aside in some schools, Grammar. Is it because we have not a proper work on grammar to be used in our schools? "Our Language Lessons," a work by Quackenbos, for young classes, has been introduced into some schools, an excellent work and one calculated to interest any one who will give it sufficient attention. It may be the fault lies wholly with your committee, in not demanding its use in every school as soon as it is proper to form young classes, but it is a difficult matter unless parents will manifest sufficient interest to purchase a book for the purpose, and see to it that their children are not permitted to have their own way; for if it is left for them to choose, as is often the case, they will ask to be excused from the study of grammar for no other reason than because they do not like it. Parents, help your committees and teachers in such matters, if you have any confidence in them, and in all the work of the school room let there be unity of action; then we can hope for the best results.

We feel assured that Prudential Committees and parents have an influence beyond what they seem to realize over our common schools, and we sincerely hope in time to come they will use wisdom in the exercise of it. We are truly grateful to all who have in any way come to our aid during our term of service as your committee.

DISTRICT NO. 1.—NORTH WESTERN.

Prudential Committee, CHARLES COLBURN.

Summer term, Mrs. Sarah M. Wood, teacher. This school, from various causes, has been more difficult to manage during the past year than formerly. Mrs. Wood evidently tried her best to make the term a successful one.

Fall term taught by Miss Ida L. King of Milford. This was Miss King's first school, and we think, judging from what we saw in two visits in the early part of the term, that she was well qualified for her post, and that most of the scholars were doing well. Absence from town prevented your Committee from being present at the closing exercises. A lack of harmony and good faith on the part of some citizens of this district, has been a serious hindrance to the prosperity of both terms of the school. C.

DISTRICT No. 2.—NORTH WEARE.

Prudential Committee, A. P. COLLINS.

Three terms taught by Miss Anne I. Hammond of Dunbarton. A long and profitable year's work in the school room, of which both teacher and pupils may well feel proud. The winter term is still in session. C.

DISTRICT No. 3.—ROCKLAND.

Prudential Committee, C. W. EVERETT.

Three terms taught by Miss Carrie M. Cochrane of Frances-town. The best of discipline and excellent improvement have been manifested. The winter term not closed. C.

DISTRICT No. 4.—SUGAR HILL.

Prudential Committee, THOMAS LUFKIN.

Summer term taught by Emma B. Colby of Bradford. A very satisfactory school.

Winter term by Delia A. Bohonan, (formerly Delia A. Jewell,) a teacher well known in town, and one that possesses rare ability for her work. We consider the district very fortunate in having secured her services. J.

DISTRICT No. 5.—CLINTON GROVE.

Prudential Committee, H. COPELAND.

Three terms taught by Fannie L. Burnham of Dunbarton, a teacher of large experience. At each of our visits we found the order good, and teacher and pupils working harmoniously together. We believe the time to have been profitably spent. J.

DISTRICT No. 6.—CENTRE.

Prudential Committee, A. J. PHILBRICK.

Summer term taught by Miss Alice L. Smith, whose reputation as a teacher is well known. It is sufficient to say that in all respects this term was very profitable.

Fall and winter terms taught by Miss Ella M. Peaslee. An industrious teacher and a good school. Two visits during the fall and winter terms satisfied us that the school was a decided success. C.

DISTRICT No. 7.—EAST WEARE.

Prudential Committee, H. FELCH.

Three terms in this district taught by Fred F. Foster of Weare. My district is very fortunate in securing the services of this experienced and successful teacher. J.

DISTRICT No. 8.—SOUTH WEARE.

Prudential Committee, J. H. NICHOLS.

Summer term taught by Miss Cora M. Dearborn of Manchester. Miss D. came into this school well qualified to do successfully her work as a teacher, and labored earnestly and faithfully for the advancement of the school, but the appearance of the school at the closing examination convinced us that the order and discipline for such a school as this must be improved before any very satisfactory results can be obtained by any teacher.

Fall and winter terms taught by J. P. Tuttle of New Boston. The closing examination of the fall term convinced all visitors that a marked change in the character of the school had taken place. It was evidently a complete success, and it was with much satisfaction, on the part of all interested, that he was engaged for the winter term.

The winter term, during the last half, was injured by the evil conduct of some of the "young men" of the school. This was corrected as thought proper by committee and teacher, and the term closed harmoniously and profitably. We are glad to say for Mr. Tuttle, that all who visited his school and had an opportunity to see him at work in the school room, pronounce him an excellent teacher. D,

DISTRICT No. 9.—BARNARD HILL.

Prudential Committee, WM. H. BROWN.

M. Bell Daniels of East Weare teacher of first term. This young lady accomplished all that could be expected under the circumstances. With experience she will make an excellent teacher.

Winter term taught by Fred Eaton, who promises to become one of our very best teachers. The district show their appreciation of his services by employing him for the third time. The school was a success. J.

DISTRICT No. 10.—RIVER ROAD.

Prudential Committee, GEO. FOLLANSBEE.

Summer term taught by Sarah A. Phelps.

Winter term by Fred Eaton. This district was very fortunate in a choice of teachers for each term. The parents here deserve especial commendation for the interest they take in their schools. We feel that these pupils took a noble step forward during the last year.

J.

DISTRICT No. 11.—MOUNTAIN.

Prudential Committee, F. BARTLETT.

Summer term taught by Miss Juliette A. Eastman. This school is in a prosperous condition. This was Miss Eastman's first experience as a teacher. The classes appeared well at the closing examination; the primer class, little girls of four and five years of age, did remarkably well, testifying that much interest had been taken in them by their teacher.

The winter term was under the instruction of Irene V. Eastman, for ten weeks, who then closed to teach in No. 13. The school continued four weeks, taught by Hattie I. Stowell.

The efforts of each teacher for the advancement of the school were appreciated by the district. From the remarks made by these teachers in their Registers we find much credit is given the pupils for prompt and regular attendance. The following are mentioned who were not absent one half day: Addie Currier, Willie Bartlett, Rosie Scruton and Eva Balch.

D.

DISTRICT No. 12 —BUXTON'S.

Prudential Committee, H. R. NICHOLS.

Summer term taught by Miss Anna H. Eastman. Miss Eastman sustains a good reputation as a teacher in our schools, and here met with her accustomed success.

Winter term taught by Elvira J. Colby, a resident of the district. The parents and other visitors at the examination, will testify with us that it was one of interest, convincing us that a good work had been done for the school during the term. We have visited no school where the examinations have been more interesting, or that showed better improvement for the year, than in this school.

D.

DISTRICT No. 13.—DEARBORN'S.

Prudential Committee, C. L. COLBURN.

Teacher of both terms, Miss Irene V. Eastman. Miss Eastman possesses ability and confidence, and in conducting her schools is not disposed to yield to the whims of her pupils, neither is she alarmed if there is a little murmuring outside the schoolroom concerning her management. These are good qualifications for all teachers. We were well pleased with the evidences of improvement, in every respect, at the close of the winter term. D.

DISTRICT No. 14.—OIL MILLS.

Prudential Committee, G. A. WHITE.

Two terms taught by Carrie A. Frost, a resident of the district. Miss Frost's labors in this school were successful, and we can speak only in the most favorable terms of both teacher and pupils, judging from the excellent appearance of the school at each examination.

Winter term taught by S. C. Cram of North Weare. Few teachers succeed as well in gaining and holding the confidence and respect of parents and pupils as did Mr. Cram; consequently the best of results from his endeavors in the school room. Arithmetic received chief attention. Other studies of equal importance should not longer be overlooked. In all other respects this school is in a good condition to go forward successfully. D.

DISTRICT No. 15.—FRIENDS.

Prudential Committee, DAMON HEDDING, D. B. LEIGHTON.

Spring term taught by Mrs. Sarah M. Wood. A short term, at an unfavorable season of the year, resulted in a small attendance, yet quite as much was accomplished as could have been expected.

Summer and fall terms taught by Miss Luella E. Dow, a resident of the district, who has taught in this school several times with good results. On the whole the progress made was good, although a more general spirit of animation would be desirable. C.
